

The Earth's Environment - Cool Burnings

Dreaming Story

Writing Lesson 5 - Complication - Dreamtime Story

- In the last lesson, you wrote your orientation, which explained where the hero and animals and people live, what they look like and what they do.

Now you are going to write the Complication for your story, it will be about your big event, maybe your hero has been eating all the food, did they burn down someone's home, perhaps they killed an animal or bird?

- How can cool burning be used to solve this problem?
- Remember that after cool burning, the land and plants recover and there is more food and more animals to catch.
- Could the cool burn make the other animals forgive your hero?
- Could your hero get killed in the cool burn so that they are punished?

* You will need to write in past tense because dreamtime stories have happened already. Here is a list of past tense verbs to help you with your writing:

Made, had, was, were, ate, asked, jumped, played, lived, ran cut, burned, attacked, gave, found, said, did, went, died, showed, started, needed, broke, kept, came, went, began, drank, stole, smashed, destroyed, killed . . . you can probably think of more!
